Portrait

The Hahnemann Clinic is located in southwestern Germany between Stuttgart and Lake Constance. The patients who find the way to us are looking for a holistic and lasting healing process.

We offer in-patient treatment for up to 30 patients and of course continuous support when the patient returns back to his daily routine, if desired. Our treatment is based on the method of classical homeopathy, complemented by psychotherapy and treatments to activate the body's inner healing powers.

Together with you, we'll find your personal, individual way of healing. Our experience and interest are accompanied by the desire to activate your own creative energy in order to live your life - with and without illness - with joy and fulfillment.

Therapeutic philosophy

The Hahnemann Clinic was founded by two homeopathic medical doctors to create a place for patients with serious chronic diseases where they receive treatment by classical homeopathy. Homeopathy can help even when conventional medicine is at the end of its rope. This highly evolved form of healing has no side effects, is gentle, lasting and reasonably priced.

Our treatment follows the rules of classical homeopathy developed by Samuel Hahnemann, based on a scientific concept.

Because of our in-patient treatment, we are able to more precisely determine a patient's homeopathic remedy which increases the chance of healing. The success of healing is most lasting when the patients are able to change the conditions which make them sick. Our clinical team offers a comprehensive program of treatment to activate those development processes and supports the individual's process of change to become healthy and vital. This enables our patients to actually continue the induced changes in their daily lives, without getting "petered out" by life's turbulences.

- * Psychologists for systemic family constellation, behavior therapy, etc.
- * Coach for self-management and perception
- * Yoga teacher
